Determined Effors to Get Gas Buoys for Bays.

EXPERIMENTAL BUDY MOV. O

Local Shipping Interests Made Pro test, but Lighthouse Board Said Funds Were Lacking-Favorable on Bill in the House.

As the result of the grounding recently near Cape Henry of a steamthip bound from European ports for ship bound from European ports for Baltimore, determined efforts are now being made to have the experimental actylene gas busy which was recently removed from Cape Henry, replaced by three busys all tearine lights and signals and equip...ed with submariae bella. One of these busys will be located off Cape Henry, any other to the northward of the Middle-Ground channel near the entrance to Chesapeake bay, and one relief busy between these two. The three busys are to cost not more than $27,600.

maintain the buoy.

Now, however, Representative Gill, of Maryland, has secured a favorable report from the House committee on interstate and fereign commerce on his proposition for the establishment of light between equipment with submarine signaling annarants, at the entrance to Chesapeake bay.

This project has met with the unanimous approval of shipping interests in Newport News, Norfolk, Haltimore Philadelphia and New York, and effects will be made to get the bill through Congress as rapidly as possible.

AMERICAN FLEET AOT TO VISIT EUROPEAN PORTS

London Hears from Official Sources That Shipe Will Not Go North of Mediterranean. (By Associated Press)

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 20.—It has been decided definately that the American fleet of battleships will not call at any European ports on its way home, with the exception of certain points in the Mediterranean where it is necessary to ston for coal. This inwith the exception of certain points in the Mediterranean where it is necessary to stop for coal. This information is conveyed in the American reply to the invitation extended by Great Britian that the fleet come to England. This answer, which has just been received at the foreign office, says the American government regrets that the fleet will not be able to touch at any European poris except those in the Mediterranean; it will, however, probably call at Malta or Gibraltar, or possibly both.

A Brutal Crime.

O'Boyle's crime was one of the most brutal murders ever deplored by the good citizens of this community, it occurred about nine years ago, in a disrepetable negro house on Twenty-third street, between Warwick avenue, and the railroad tracks. The victim was Alma Hamilton, a mulatto, with whom O'Boyle had lived for several years and who is said to have been the mother of several of his children. The woman, who was in a delicate con lition, was knocked to the boor and stamped upon until the spars of like was nearly extinct. She died a few days afterward, and O'Boyle was artisted on the charge of killing he-
